

The relationship between economic development and female labour force participation:
A within-country analysis of Mexico.

After the publication of the working paper, I have received comments and suggestions from Claudia Goldin, Caitlin Brown, Ralitza Dimova, and Charles Gottlieb.

I have worked on some of their recommendations to my thesis chapter, but I'm still working on other suggestions.

The following presentation includes all the updated results that I have not been able to incorporate yet in the last version of my research paper.
